DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Ridder Farm lies in hilly terrain, east of Mountain Rd., approx. 3/4 mile north of Table Rock.

The 3 bay by 2 bay frame house is set into a slope making it 2 stories on the SE elevation and 3 stories on the facade, NW elevation. It rests on a roughly squared, coursed stone foundation and has a raised seam metal gable roof. The house has weatherboard siding, cornerboards, and a plain cornice with complete cornice returns at the gable ends. There are 2 interior chimneys; one concrete block and the other, brick.

A 2-story wooden porch wraps around the facade and NE elev. It has a tongue and groove floor, turned wooden posts and a corrugated metal shed roof. The floor on the ground level of the porch is poured concrete. The ground level is 4 bays wide with a central entrance. The 1st story is 3 bays with a central entrance.

A 1-story, L-shaped enclosed shed porch extends from the SE elev. and has an entrance on the NE side.

The windows are 1/1 sash with plain board surrounds and flat drip molded window heads. There is a 2-pane window in each gable end.

A 10 to 12 inch wide horizontal board, and in places, 2 boards equalling the same width, are laid just above the foundation and below the weatherboard siding, forming a water table. The cornerboards do not extend over these boards.

A frame bank barn lies NW of the house. There are 6 outbuildings on the site, including a springhouse. Two springs lie south of the house.

The original barn stood north of the house.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Ridder Farmhouse, built during the second half of the nineteenth century, is a good example of frame farmhouses common to Garrett County.

Based on oral tradition, the farm is the original Ridder family settlement (interview with Mrs. Ray Ridder). The present farmhouse was first occupied by the Ridder family, then sold to the Kaufmans, an Amish family, and finally acquired by the present occupant, Betty M. Wilt (interview with Betty M. Wilt).
